

Big data analysis for aging research

Our lab is focused in fundamental and applied research on aging, and has expertise in both experimental and computational biology. The internship will consist in analyzing large datasets, using machine learning and bioinformatics methods, in order to get interesting leads for further experimental validations. Different projects are available and could be discussed with interested candidates.

Contact:

Jerome Salignon
jerome.salignon@ki.se

Karolinska Institute / Stockholm
Department of Biosciences and Nutrition